The Demand Surcharge amounts in the Higher Volume Shipper Tables will apply on a weekly basis to each package based on the weekly volume for each service level as a percentage of the Baseline[6] for each week during the specified Demand Period. The highest applicable surcharge amount will apply to all packages in that week within each service level as determined by the weekly volume as a percentage of Baseline weekly average volume for any given week and service level.

[3] UPS Ground Saver was formerly known as UPS SurePost®

[4] "All Other UPS Air" includes UPS 2nd Day Air A.M., UPS 2nd Day Air and UPS 3 Day Select.

[5] Applies to customers whose combined volume of Ground Residential, Ground Saver (formerly UPS SurePost), Next Day Air Residential and All Other Air Residential packages has exceeded 20,000 packages in any week after October 2025, regardless of the volume of customer's shipments for any particular service level. Once this aggregate threshold has been met, the Demand Surcharges apply until further notice to all service levels. The Demand Surcharges apply to all Ground Residential, Ground Saver, Next Day Air Residential and All Other Air Residential packages in any weekly invoice period for the applicable service level. For each service level each week, the amount of the surcharge for all packages for each service level is the highest applicable surcharge for the service level. For example, if the shipper has volume in a week of 175% of the Baseline average weekly volume for UPS Ground Residential, then each UPS Ground Residential package will be assessed a surcharge of $2.65 (not just those over 150% of Baseline average weekly volume for UPS Ground Residential). For holiday weeks that are not full UPS operating weeks, the surcharge will apply to all packages in that weekly invoice period for the applicable service level multiplied by the number of full UPS operating days in that week. Customer's volume includes volume from any affiliated accounts and other accounts related to customer, as determined by UPS in its sole and unlimited discretion.

[6] The "Baseline" volume is the customer's average weekly volume for the applicable service level for June 2026 (May 31, 2026 through June 27, 2026). If customer's average weekly volume for the applicable service level from August 30, 2026 through September 26, 2026 is less than 80% of its average weekly volume from May 31, 2026 through June 27, 2026, as determined by UPS in its sole and unlimited discretion, then customer's average weekly volume from August 30, 2026 through September 26, 2026 will be used as the Baseline volume.
